

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

LEGISLATION OF THE LAST SESSION.

It would be at least ungrateful if this report should go forth without mention of the value to the Library realized from the Legislation secured from the last General Assembly.

In the report of the Librarian to the last General Assembly he recommended certain enactments, believing that the service of the Library to the State might be thereby increased. While some of these acts were not vital to the Library in any important sense, yet they were steps in the right direction and have proved both that the Librarian was not mistaken in his estimates of their value and also that the Legislature was keen to appreciate even these slightly advanced steps.

BINDING AND LABELING.

Chapter 149 of the Laws of 1899 provides for binding the Documentary Journal in volumes of about one thousand pages each, thus preventing such unwieldy volumes as have been bound in past years. Further, this same chapter provides that the table of contents of the Documentary Journal shall be stamped upon the backs of the respective volumes, thus rendering all reports contained in this Journal more readily accessible than has been possible in former issues. The same act also provides that both the Legislative and Documentary Journals shall display as a part of their titles the name Indiana.

All who have had occasion to use these Journals agree that these provisions have greatly improved the appearance and usefulness of these publications, and the plan has been complimented and initiated by other states.

DISTRIBUTION OF DOCUMENTS.

Chapter 210 of the same laws makes two important provisions relating to the collection and distribution of our State publications. It first provides that the Board of Public Printing shall cause to be delivered to the State Librarian 150 copies of every report, document, bulletin or other publication published at the expense of the State except the Court Reports. Until the enactment of this law it has been quite impossible for any State office to secure a complete set of our publications for any year. Under this provision the State Librarian now has delivered to him all State publications, which is of great value and the value will be more apparent as the years pass. Without such a provision many valuable State publications have totally disappeared and can not now be had from any source at any price. This same act further provides that the Librarian shall distribute these in complete sets to all public and institutional libraries within the State, thus rendering accessible to the largest number of citizens our own State publications and giving increased opportunity not only for their use but also for their preservation in the State, besides placing a full set of our publications in each State and territorial library in the United States, thus giving one hundred and fifty centers where our reports may be found and consulted.

Not only have the centers to which these publications go increased, but the number of documents sent out has multiplied many times. Under the old law we distributed three documents in two years, while under the new law since January 1, 1900, we have distributed eighty-three publications.

FURTHER RECOMMENDATIONS.

The last General Assembly did not find itself able to give all that was requested in the way of increased appropriation for carrying on the work of the Library.

It is necessary to still insist that the work can not be accomplished that should be by the State Library without increased funds in certain lines. By the last session we were treated very generously in regard to the expense fund, the chief use of which is the distribution of publications which has already been treated. We need, however, equally generous consideration with regard to the fund for the purchase and binding of books. With our present fund for these purposes we are enabled to do just what has been done for years, but relatively worse, for no provision is made to participate in the larger life of a growing world. When our binding is done out of our present small fund, we have but little left, and such an amount as is quite insignificant when viewed in the light of the mission of the State Library.

The mission of the State Library in each of two lines needs much larger sums for purchase than it now receives. In the first place, the State Library should seek out and purchase a large amount of historical matter relative to the State and its people, which is rapidly disappearing, both by wanton destruction and by purchase by persons and institutions outside the State who have either more money or finer appreciation, for either or both of which we should be heartily ashamed. This class of material costs much money, both in finding it and in securing it when found.

It requires patience, energy and money. The first two of these however, the Librarian can furnish, but the third must be appropriated by the General Assembly.

In the second place the kind of books desirable in a State Library are not of the kind that can be purchased for a dollar and can therefore be had by any one in his private library. On the contrary the State Library should possess that class of books which because of their cost or volume can not be in private or small public libraries. It is useless for the State to compete with the thousands of individuals in the ownership of cheap books. The State should own a class of books not in the reach of the individual. To do this work we should have at least two thousand dollars instead of one thousand. Doubling our fund for purchase and binding really gives us a purchase fund of fifteen hundred dollars, where we now have but about five hundred dollars, for our binding would be but slightly increased with the additional purchase.

PUBLIC LIBRARY LAWS.

The organization and growth of public libraries in our State are not progressing so rapidly as many other phases of our life, and something should be done which would encourage the establishment, growth and better management of such valuable institutions. It is comparatively useless to teach our people how to read and then turn them out in the world with no guide as to what to read. The library can guide the people. One great retarding influence in this work and which can be easily removed by the Legislature is the chaotic and conflicting nature of our statutes upon this subject. Our legislation upon this subject needs to be thoroughly revised and simplified. All our legislation so far has tended to make the library either the tail end of some other institution by making it a secondary duty of some board appointed primarily for some other purpose, or by placing it in the hands of the municipal administration, which invariably makes it a tool in the hands of political bosses and which generally results in the selection of a librarian on some other basis than that of special fitness for a special duty.

COLLECTING INDIANA HISTORICAL MATERIAL.

I want to urge with greater force, if possible, than I did in my last report the necessity of collecting materials from various parts of the State relating to the early history of the State. There still exist the same reasons for making such a collection, and even greater reasons for doing so very soon. The material is being destroyed by many who do not appreciate the fact, and by others is being sold to persons and societies outside of our own State, and in either of these cases it is at once put beyond the reach of our State. There are men in Indiana whose business it is to collect and sell this material, and practically all their sales are outside the State.

It is one of the duties of the State Library to collect and preserve such material, but it is quite impossible to carry on this work without liberal funds both to seek out the location of these materials and to purchase them when found. Unless we can secure liberal funds for this work it is useless to talk about it and soon even the funds will be useless for the material will not be to be had at any price, and future generations desiring such a collection will hold this generation responsible for such irreparable neglect and condemn our penuriousness. A few hundred dollars well spent now will become of inestimable value in our hands a few years later. It is quite impossible to overestimate the value of such work, but it is equally impossible to do the work until funds are provided.

There has been such an awakening among the most intelligent citizens of our State within the last two years that the General Assembly will be strongly supported in any appropriation for this purpose. Within very recent years the movement has attracted not only individual citizens, but old settlers' organizations have indorsed it and engaged in it, historical societies have been organized in several of the counties of the State, the State Teachers' Association has taken up the matter and committees are now at work perfecting plans for carrying on this work, and the people of the State are generously supporting a magazine whose sole purpose is the collection and preservation of Indiana history. The time is ripe and any appropriation by the Legislature for this purpose will be strongly indorsed.

LENDING BOOKS.

The law governing the use of the State Library has always provided that books shall not be loaned outside of the Capitol building; in other words it shall be strictly a reference library. In general I believe the provision to have been a wise one, yet I can see no sufficient reason why a provision might not be made by which any citizen of the State with proper guarantee might not be able to secure from the Library for a short time any book or books which could be readily duplicated in case of loss. Many times within a year thoroughly responsible citizens desire the use of certain books for a short time, and for this brief use they can't afford to purchase, but would gladly give any reasonable guarantee for its care and safe return. Such loans may be made in either of two ways. Either direct to the individual on the deposit with the librarian of the money value of the book plus cost of carriage both ways, or through a public library local to the borrower in which he has borrowing relations, providing such public library will become responsible for the care and safe return of the book. Such loans, of course, should not include purely reference works, and should not extend beyond ten days from date of leaving State Library until return to the same.

I believe the passage of an act embodying such provisions as above indicated will increase the usefulness of the Library to the citizens of the State at large and in no way decrease its value as a reference library for those who can come to the Library, and I am sure such an act will meet the hearty approval of many of our most worthy citizens throughout the State.

CATALOGUING AND INDEXING.

Within the period covered by this report we have accomplished much along the line contemplated by the present administration—of making the contents of the Library more accessible to its patrons. We have just completed a dictionary card catalogue of the United States Government publications deposited in this Library, the subject catalogue of which is printed as Appendix A of this report. By this catalogue we are now enabled to make accessible all the important information contained in this vast storehouse which has until now remained practically sealed and without value.

We print the subject catalogue first as a part of the report of the work done, but also to set forth this material to our patrons, and further with the hope that this catalogue may serve every library in the State which contains any of these public documents. The method of this catalogue is very fully set forth in the preface to Appendix A, which will make it easily usable by any library or any person not connected with the State Library.

INDEX TO DOCUMENTARY JOURNAL.

In further attempting to make the contents of the Library accessible we have just completed a card index to the Documentary Journal which is printed as Appendix B to this report. These reports, containing, as they do, the real history of almost every institution and department of the State government, are exceedingly valuable and are much sought after by the patrons of the Library; but until this index was completed they were very difficult to handle with any degree of certainty of finding the desired information. In the preface to this Appendix may be found the text of this index.

INDEX TO NEWSPAPERS.

Since much of the history of the State is contained in our newspapers and not elsewhere, and is therefore not readily accessible to any one attempting to find it some time after publication, it has seemed desirable that an index be prepared which will make available much of this material.

We have made an index to the following Indianapolis papers: The Journal, News and Sentinel beginning January 1, 1898, and the Press from its first issue.

We attempt to index important Indiana articles which we consider make the history of the State, and will therefore be valuable references in the future, such as descriptions of portions of the State; important speeches of public men; biographical sketches; works of prominent authors, artists, musicians, etc., and vital political issues.

We index national and international questions so far as they are of general interest for the future. The attempt is to index only that material which can not be found readily in any other way.

CLEARING HOUSE SCHEME.

About two years ago the State Librarian sent copies of the following circulars to all libraries within the State for the purpose of inaugurating a system by which there might be utilized a large amount of valuable material now useless, first by finding this material and second by placing it where it will be of the largest service to the people.

Comparatively few libraries have responded, but even with the few the success has been so great that I wish to urge upon others the value to themselves of such co-operation, not of course failing to emphasize the value of this work to the State Library. From the libraries so far co-operating we have received more than three thousand numbers of standard magazines, such as Harper's, Scribner's, Forum, Century, North American Review, Atlantic, and many less valuable, beside, what is of still greater worth to the State Library, many books, pamphlets and reports which otherwise do not come to us.

From the number of standard magazines which we have received we have distributed more than six hundred numbers to the co-operating libraries to complete broken files.

Co-operation in this line should be given by every public library, and especially by the small libraries and by those just opening.

..... Library.

Throughout the State of Indiana there are many valuable magazines, reports, society publications in broken sets, and books, which the owners do not care to keep, and which they will gladly donate to any worthy object if sought for public ends.

It is believed that by the co-operation of all libraries in the State, with a central point of concentration and distribution, much can be accomplished for all the libraries in the way of completing sets of the more common magazines and many State and society publications, and perhaps, by adding to some libraries books not now possessed by them.

The State Library, therefore, wishes to make the following propositions to the libraries of Indiana:

First. The State Library will act as a clearing house for all duplicates of magazines, pamphlets, reports, public documents and books which the several libraries may have on hand or may collect from their respective towns and neighborhoods, and send to the State Library.

Second. The State Library will furnish to all the libraries blanks which may be filled out by such libraries and returned to the State Library, where they will be filed in order, indicating what the library needs toward making up broken sets, thus enabling the State Library to find at once just what each library needs, the same to be forwarded as soon as it appears in any collection sent in.

Each library becoming a party to this agreement, and wishing to avail itself of the benefit of such an exchange system, will be expected to advertise in its own local papers, asking all persons in the community to send to the local library all magazines, pamphlets, reports and books which they are willing to dispose of. The local library, of course, will retain what it needs for its own collection, all else to be sent to the State Library to be sorted and classified ready to be sent to the co-operating Libraries as their needs are indicated by the requests filed in the State Library.

The State Library is not wholly unselfish in this effort. It also is quite as desirous of collecting valuable material and filling broken sets as is any other Library in the State, and will claim the first right to satisfy its own needs from the material sent in from the co-operating Libraries, each co-operating Library having had the first selection from the material collected by its own efforts.

The State Library, in consideration of the value it may obtain from this system of co-operation, offers to pay transportation charges upon all goods received by it, providing that all co-operating libraries pay transportation on all goods sent to them from the State Library.

If your library is willing to become a co-operating library under all the requirements and provisions of the above outlined scheme, please indicate the fact, and the smaller detailed directions will be prepared and forwarded to you soon, so that the plan may be put into operation early in September.

W. E. HENRY, Librarian,
State Library, Indianapolis.

CONDITIONS FOR LIBRARY CO-OPERATION.

First. Each library desiring to co-operate must advertise in the local papers asking all persons in the town or community to donate to the local library all material of the following kinds, which they are willing to give:

- (a) Books, regardless of subject, if complete.
- (b) Magazines, in single numbers or bound volumes, regardless of age, subject or title.
- (c) Pamphlets, regardless of age or subject.
- (d) Reports, in sets or single numbers, of any society, secret order or institution.
- (e) Catalogues of educational institutions in Indiana, regardless of date.
- (f) Minutes and proceedings of any church organization of any date or denomination.
- (g) Proceedings or programs of societies or clubs.

Second. Each library advertising for material is requested to send to the State Library a copy of the paper in which such advertisement occurs.

Third. In sending to the State Library what the local library can not use, please send packages of fifteen pounds, or less, by express, collect. Larger packages must be sent by freight, collect.

Fourth. Notify us by card of any package sent.

Fifth. Do not send material to State Library until after November 1, 1898.

SUGGESTIONS.

First. That the advertisement sent to the newspaper enumerate specifically what is wanted, somewhat after the style of the above (a-g, under First).

Second. That retiring professional men and families of professional men are most likely to respond liberally to such calls, and especially if seen personally.

Third. That you indicate that material will be called for at the home of the donor, if the library is notified that it may be had.

Fourth. Personal calls where material is known to exist will bring much that an advertisement may not bring.

W. E. HENRY, Librarian.

State Library, Indianapolis.

PUBLICATIONS OF THE LIBRARY.

In the last biennial report from this office it was mentioned that the Library had published a number of bulletins in the bibliography of certain subjects. Since that report was made no additional publications have been issued for the reason that with our limited working force we could not continue that work and do the cataloguing and indexing that seemed desirable to do, so for the time we have thought best to discontinue the publication of these bulletins until we shall have completed our catalogue, which we hope to have finished within the next few months, then to continue with some degree of regularity our bibliographical bulletins.

SUBJECT CATALOGUE

OF

United States Public Documents

IN INDIANA STATE LIBRARY.

1900.

INDIANAPOLIS:
WM. B. BURFORD, CONTRACTOR FOR STATE PRINTING AND BINDING.
1900.

PREFACE.

Being aware of the vast quantity of valuable information contained in the United States Public Documents on a large variety of subjects especially valuable to a state library, and feeling the insufficiency of any effort so far made to make it accessible, we have considered it of sufficient value to us to justify the preparation of a dictionary catalogue of these documents.

The brief experience we have had with the card catalogue since its completion seems to warrant the belief that the publication of the subject catalogue will be of great value to other libraries in our state and to persons situated away from the capital who are interested in the contents of the State Library.

Many valuable public documents have been thrown away in many places in the state because the contents were not sufficiently accessible to show the possessor the value of these documents. If this publication shall to any degree exhibit the value of these documents and to that degree prevent their wanton destruction it will have proved its value to the state.

While this is a catalogue of the United States Public Documents contained in the State Library only, it may become a catalogue to the same documents contained in any other library in our state, by such library merely copying our call numbers and following our shelf arrangement, the explanation of which is given in the following

KEY TO CLASSIFICATION.

The public documents are classified according to the Dewey decimal classification, but necessarily a few changes had to be made, as the Dewey classification does not always provide for the subjects arising in the U. S. documents.

The annual reports have for their book numbers "Un" and the last two figures of the date of report, which places them on the shelves in chronological order. For example, the report of the department of agriculture for 1897 is 630.6 Un97.

To avoid shelving a book between two reports we have placed the work mark between the letters and figures of the book number. For example, the report on finance for 1896 has for its call number 336 Un96 and the report of the commissioner of internal revenue for 1896 has for its call number 336 Uni96. "i" is inserted between Un and 96 to avoid shelving alternately the reports on finance and those of the commissioner of internal revenue. It has been necessary to use a great many work marks, and no rule could be followed for selecting the letters. Where possible the first letter of the title has been used, but otherwise, any letter which is a distinguishing mark.

The documents have been classified as much as possible under their subjects, but about half of the volumes are of so miscellaneous a character that they could not be classified under any one subject. These have been put in 328. For the other part of the call number we have used the scheme of the New York State Library. The volumes which can be classified closely have been taken out of the set and arranged together. Where these volumes were taken out wooden dummies are placed, which indicate where the book which has been removed may be found.

Laws are put in 345 with New York State Library scheme for congress, and a to c for session. (For New York State Library scheme for public documents see end of Preface.)

Analyticals have been made of articles of general interest and especially of those of importance to the Indiana State Library.

American state papers have Biscoe time numbers. (For Biscoe time numbers see end of Preface.)

Pamphlets are put in boxes labeled with the common author, title or subject, at the top, and the call number at bottom. Where there is a series or continuation the author or title, if latter is more prominent, is written on top label. If pamphlets are miscellaneous those are put together which (1) are issued by same department; or (2) treat of same or similar subjects. Pamphlet boxes are treated as if a book and are given the call number which the book will have when pamphlets are bound.

BISCOE TIME NUMBERS

Provide for arranging books by years from 1000 B. C. to 2,000 A. D. Each number consists of a single initial followed by figures, and these again if need be, by letters.

A=B. C.	I=1820-1829.
B=A. D.-999.	J=1830-1839.
C=1000-1499.	K=1840-1849.
D=1500-1599.	L=1850-1859.
E=1600-1699.	M=1860-1869.
F=1700-1799.	N=1870-1879.
G=1800-1809.	O=1880-1889.
H=1810-1819.	P=1890-1899.

A single letter followed by a single figure (that the last figure of the date) designates any year of the preceding century. For the three preceding centuries a letter and two figures are needed.

PUBLIC DOCUMENTS.SCHEME USED IN NEW YORK STATE LIBRARY.

A=Colonial.
B=Reprints.
C=Left free for any use.
D1-D9=1st to 9th congress.
E-E9=10th to 19th congress.
F-F9=20th to 29th congress.
G-G9=30th to 39th congress.
H-H9=40th to 49th congress.
I-I9=50th to 59th congress.

Under each congress the first six lower case letters (a to f) are assigned to first session; (g to l) are assigned to second session; (m to r) are assigned to third session.

Under each session arrange documents as follows:

1. Senate documents (a to c) (g to i) (m to o).
2. House documents (d to f) (j to l) (p to r).

Under each the order is

- a. Reports of committees.
- b. Documents or executive documents.
- c. Miscellaneous documents.

SESSION AND KIND OF DOCUMENT.

1st session.	2d session.	3d session.
a	g	m	Senate reports.
b	h	n	S. Executive documents.
c	i	o	S. Miscellaneous docs.
d	j	p	House reports.
e	k	q	H. Executive documents.
f	l	r	H. Miscellaneous docs.

In addition to this each volume of a set should bear its own volume number to distinguish from others of same set. For example, 328 H5a1 equals 45th congress 1st session, Senate reports, vol.1.

The House Executive documents and miscellaneous documents are now combined and bear the title House documents, and in the same way the Senate executive and miscellaneous documents are combined and bear the title Senate documents, and we have added the following letters to the above scheme to designate the above sets:

1st session.	2d session.	3d session.
s	u	w	Senate documents.
t	v	x	House documents.

We have not followed that part of the New York scheme which provides for adding the volume number to the other letters and figures. Instead, we write vol.1 or 2, as the case may be, as we would in any other set of books.

We have also used the New York State Library scheme for marking the Senate and House Journals, which is:

If only three figures are used and no distinctive number for Journals the best way is to take one of the numbers A to C for book number left vacant in documents. The journals ought to come first and better take the letter A. Leave A1 and A2 for any reprints of Senate journals and use A3 for regular series. Leave A4 and A5 for reprints of House journals and A6 for regular series.

NOTE—The scheme given above, called the "Biscoe time numbers" was taken from the Library Journal v.10, p.246.

1899.

INDIANAPOLIS:
1900.

PREFACE.

Any government publication that contains the official reports of the departments and institutions of that government must sooner or later come to be most valuable and much sought after by those persons interested in the development of institutional life, for it contains all that is permanent in the records of the several departments and institutions of the government and the material from which much of the essential history must later be written. These publications are known under many different names in the several States of our country, and in our own State are named the Documentary Journal. In Indiana there is rapidly growing an interest in the printed documents of the State. This interest, at first largely official, is becoming popular, and there is a growing demand that these documents be accessible. Unfortunately, the volumes themselves have not been provided with either a volume or a general index, and many volumes are lacking correct table of contents. It seems desirable, therefore, that the State Library provide such an index as will reveal and make accessible the several reports contained in these volumes. We print the index with the hope that it may be valuable to any person or library possessing all or a part of the Documentary Journals by rendering valuable many reports usually esteemed valueless.

The Documentary Journal first appeared in 1835. Previous to that time not many reports were printed, or, if printed, have not been preserved; but such as were printed and preserved were published in the Senate or House Journal. These are referred to in this index.

For our purposes it has been found necessary to number the reports of each year consecutively as they appear in the bound volume, even though it may in certain instances violate the printed number on some reports, as some have been wrongly numbered and some not numbered at all. When the reports have been made in part to the Senate and in part to the House they have been designated parts one and two, respectively. Again in rebinding, where the volumes have been too large for convenience, we have bound them in two volumes calling them parts one and two, the division being purely arbitrary.

The parts and respective numbers of the reports have been indicated in our own set on leather labels projecting beyond the margin of the book, but not beyond the book-cover. This suggestion of device is given so that other persons may use it if they care to do so, thus rendering this printed index more readily usable than it could otherwise become.

THE TRAVELING LIBRARIES.

In response to an earnest demand from many interests of the State the Sixty-first General Assembly enacted a law; Chapter CIII, Acts of 1899, page 134, providing for a Public Library Commission and carrying with it an appropriation of $500 (five hundred dollars) annually for the expense of the Commission and $3,000 (three thousand dollars) for the purchase of books and the equipment of traveling libraries.

Under the provisions of this law the Governor was to appoint three persons as members of the Commission. The Governor discharged this duty by appointing Jacob P. Dunn, of Indianapolis; Elizabeth C. Earl, of Connersville, and Joseph R. Voris, of Bedford. The Commission met and organized April 11, 1899, by electing Mr. Dunn President, the State Librarian being Secretary, as provided by the law creating the Commission.

The Commission proceeded at once to the purchase of books and the equipment of libraries. After careful discussion it was deemed advisable to organize two classes of libraries. The general libraries are miscellaneous collections of forty volumes each, all of this class of libraries being essentially the same yet without duplication of volumes. The Study Libraries each consist of from ten to fifteen volumes upon some specific subject.

We now have a total of sixty miscellaneous libraries and twenty study libraries. Statistical tables following will give facts of circulation. By August 26, 1899, thirty-four libraries were ready for circulation, and by September 30 the twenty general libraries were all in the field. Twenty-six more libraries were organized and ready for distribution by January 17, 1900, and the general libraries were all out by February 10. We have just completed twenty more which are now ready for distribution. The Commission will not be able to equip any additional libraries with the funds so far provided, although not all the funds are expended.

The libraries have gone to practically all parts of the State as is shown by map facing page 16, showing the location of each association to which one or more libraries have been loaned. As will be seen by this map, the libraries have gone chiefly to the country districts and

The State Librarian shall be ex officio secretary of said Commission.

Sec. 2. Said Public Library Commission shall have the control and management of the traveling libraries hereinafter provided for; shall purchase the books and collection of books therefor and equipment for the same; shall adopt rules and regulations for loaning such books and collection of books to library associations and to the persons entitled to borrow the same, and shall provide for and require such security or guaranty for the safe return of such books or collection of books as may be deemed advisable; shall prepare lists of books suitable for public libraries and obtain prices for the same and furnish such lists whenever required; shall furnish information or advice as to the organization, maintenance or administration of any library in the State whenever requested so to do by the Librarian or Trustees. The Public Library Commission shall keep a complete record of library associations and other organizations and persons entitled to borrow books of such traveling libraries and of transactions therewith, and he shall include in his biennial report a summary of the facts of public interest and value in relation thereto.

Sec. 3. There is hereby appropriated out of any funds in the treasury not otherwise specifically appropriated the sum of three thousand dollars ($3,000) for the purchase of books and collections of books and the equipment for traveling libraries. The books so purchased shall be in the care of the State Librarian, but shall be kept separate from the other books of the State Library. The books so purchased shall be divided into sets or libraries by said Commission and loaned to library associations and other organizations and persons as herein provided.

Sec. 8. In any township where a free public library is established as above provided there shall be established a township library board composed of the School Township Trustee and two residents of the township, to be appointed by the Judge of the Circuit Court (one of whom shall be a woman). Of the first two members of such board so appointed one shall be appointed for a term of two years and one for four years and thereafter the term of office shall be four years. Such library board shall have control of the purchase of books and the management of such library and shall serve without compensation. Said library shall be the property of the school township, and the School Township Trustees shall be responsible for the safe preservation of the same. Said board shall be entitled to the possession and custody of any books remaining in the old township library in such township; and such board shall be empowered to receive donations, bequests and legacies for and on behalf of such library, and shall be entitled to receive from the Public Library Commission and State Librarian copies of all documents of this State available for distribution. Before the purchase of any books the Township Library Board shall consult the Public Library Commission.

Sec. 9. The State Librarian and the Public Library Commission shall supply any library of this State with copies of official documents and publications of the State in his custody available for distribution within the State.

Sec. 10. No member of the Public Library Commission shall be in any way connected with the business of publishing or selling books.
